Legal Conference 2020

A stable, transparent and effective legal environment, both regulatory and contractual, is crucial to attracting continued investment in the UK Continental Shelf.

In recognition of the importance of this discipline, and following very successful legal conferences since 2014, OGUK, the country's leading offshore oil and gas trade body, is holding its annual legal conference. The conference includes a drinks reception and dinner and will be held on Thursday 24 September at the Ardoe House Hotel, Aberdeen.

The purpose is to facilitate learning and knowledge sharing whilst also building a stronger network within the legal community.

Legal Conference 2020

The largest industrial contributor to HM Treasury, the UK's offshore oil and gas sector is crucial for the UK, not only in terms of delivering a secure indigenous supply of energy, but in providing jobs and skills throughout the country.

As such, the need for practical advice and innovative solutions from the industry's lawyers has never been more important.

Suitable for in-house and private practice lawyers of all levels and specialist contractors, the conference will feature talks from industry leaders on the key issues facing the sector's legal community, in addition to providing a unique networking opportunity.
